THE VOICE OF THE PASTOR

My Dear Fathers, Brothers, and Sisters,

In the Book of Genesis we read, "God created human being in his own image. In the image of God he created them; male and female he created them" (Gen 1:27). This verse wants us realize that God has called us for a noble vocation and we are called to be God-like and reflect him in our day-to-day life. We must bring to our mind that our destiny is to be aware of our God-likeness.

This divine-likeness can be blemished by our sinfulness and our turning away from God seeking worldly pleasures and comforts. We will also tarnish our God-likeness by our indifferent attitude to the hungry, sick, and the abandoned. By turning away from God we, of course, betray our destiny to be God-like and reject this great privilege and responsibility to act in a God-like manner.

But to live up to our destiny as God-like we must in our life be loving, merciful, serving others, and respond to the cry of the needy. There are also various other ways by which we manifest our God-likeness such as by showing our sympathy for the people in sorrow and distress and wipe away the tears of the people in agony. By being useful to others we implement our privilege and responsibility to act in a God-like manner.

Every day of our life is a challenge to live the God-likeness in us. Every day is an opportunity to overcome the hindrances that prevent us from mirroring forth of the God-likeness in us. Every day is an invitation extended to us by God to be like him by manifesting the divine in us.

Let us take this opportunity to realize in us the divineness and pursue to be truthful and good through which God will be manifested in and through us to others.

May the Joy of Christmas be with you all!

Your Loving Archbishop,

(+Most Rev. Antony Pappusamy)

Sr. Rani Maria was beatified on Nov. 4th 2017. An article on the sanctity of Bl. Rani Maria has been published in this issue.

A YOUNG MARTYR FOR SOCIAL JUSTICE

- FRANCIS CHITTUPARAMPIL, O CD

The Servant of God Regina Maria Vattalil (née Maria Vattalil), professed sister of the Franciscan Clarist Congregation, will be beatified in Indore, India, on 4 November. This young Franciscan nun dedicated her missionary life to concretely sharing the ever glowing flame of Christian faith with the poor in order to enlighten the dark areas of the remotest villages of north India. Her presence itself was an eloquent proclamation of the power of the Word of God and of the closeness of the loving presence of God.

Rani Maria, known as Marykunj (Little Mary) to her family, was born on 29 January 1954, to Eleeswa and Paily Vattalil, the second daughter of seven children. Pulluvazhy, her birthplace in the Ernakulam district of Kerala state in India, was remote village consisting of both traditional Christian and non Christian families. Her parents and family members were traditionally rooted in the Christian faith. Saint Thomas Parish Church, belonging to the Syro- Malabar rite, was the centre of the faith for parishioners.

Her parents worked hard in the fields to feed and take care of their children, God's greatest gifts to them. The family prayer at the end of the day was a moment when the entire family gathered before the images of the Sacred Heart of Jesus and of the Blessed Virgin Mary to raise their hearts to God. Marykuni never failed to be present there and often led the daily family prayer. Besides attending daily Mass, she was also a member of Marian Sodality which was very active within the parish. Her parents taught her to love the poor and the regular workers in the fields. Rani Maria's selfless dedication in the remotest villages of central and northern India can be traced back to these lessons. It is of no doubt that the God-fearing and loving parents of the newly Blessed and their exemplary life played a great role in sowing and nurturing her ardent desire to offer herself courageously to the service of the Lord, even to the point of becoming a martyr of social justice.

Rani Maria entered the Clarist convent in Kidangoor on 3 July 1972, and made her first profession on 1 May 1974, at the age of 20. With an ardent wish to be a missionary witness to the poor, the young nun was happy when asked to go to the Bijnor Mission in Uttar Pradesh in December 1975, just one year after her religious profession. She served different mission areas in a short span of time, all with her unique and creative ways of witnessing to the Lord. For eight years she lived and worked in the Diocese of Bijnor, where she found her own way to fulfill her mission, engaging in the specific apostolate of uplifting the poor and the marginalized. For the next nine years (1983-92), she was coordinator of the social apostolate of the Diocese of Satna, in the central Indian state of Madhya Pradesh, organizing educational programs for children, young people and the aged, and working for the empowerment of the Adivasis (indigenous people). Her works attracted many to embrace Christianity.

Her final phase of missionary life was in the Diocese of Indore in the same state, from 1992-95. Here she came to be called by her admirers as Indore Rani (Queen of Indore). It was here that she became an enemy of the landlords who were exploiting poor workers, and of the money lenders who were extorting the income of the people in the form of exaggerated interest rates. Maria Rani sought earnestly to make the exploited conscious of their rights, by organizing study classes and forming self-help groups. The programmes and services that she carried out were a true fulfillment of her prophetic mission toward the poor. It gave the exploited hope for a better future, as they fought for justice from their oppressors. Rani Maria argued in favour of those who were unjustly imprisoned and consoled them.

All these works infuriated the exploiters, as they challenged their vested interests. But she never stepped back from her initiatives in spite of their threats. While travelling by bus to Indore on 25 February 1995, fellow travellers witnessed the merciless attack on the nun by Samundher Singh, who had been hired by the exploiters. Sr Rani Maria was brutally stabbed to death in the attack, marking the end of her earthly life of bearing witness to Jesus Christ. Her martyrdom can be called "martyrdom for the social cause of the Church", as it arose from her fight for the dignity and rights of the human person, created in the image of God.

Through the attention of the late Carmelite Fr Michael Porathukara, Singh repented his brutal acts and was ready to do penance and lead a good life if released from prison. Later, Michael's suggestion, Rani Maria's own blood sister Selmi, who belonged to the same province of the Franciscan Clarist Congregation as her sister, voluntarily visited Singh and forgave him. and brother Stephen Singh in prison and forgiveness. Together sisters and Fr Michael, approached the civil Singh's release from freed in August 2006 and life.

A still greater stunned the whole was heartily welcomed native family, in Rani Maria's mother Vattalil also visited assured him of their with the Franciscan the family authorities to request confinement. He was now leads a simple act of forgiveness world, when Singh into Rani Maria's Pulluvazhy on 13

January 2007. Accompanied by Fr Michael, Singh arrived at Rani Maria's family home and fell prostrate at the feet of her mother and ailing father, asking for pardon. Her mother Eleeswa embraced Samunder and with motherly tenderness kissed his hands, which had once been stained with the blood of her own daughter. Fr Michael's suggestion, Rani Maria's own blood sister Selmi, who belonged to the same province of the Franciscan Clarist Congregation as her sister, voluntarily visited Singh and forgave him. Rani Maria's mother and brother Stephen Vattalil also visited Singh in prison and assured him of their forgiveness.

Together with the Franciscan sisters and Fr Michael, the family approached the civil authorities to request Singh's release from confinement. He was freed in August 2006 and now leads a simple life in his village, working in the fields and regularly visiting Sr Rani Maria's tomb. Lending further credibility to his conversion, he wishes to be instrumental in the conversion of this young nun from Kerala, who went to the extreme point of giving her life in order to bear witness to the Gospel through her social activities, is a great example for the world, especially for the youth. Her life and witness exhorts the youth and missionaries to courageously get involved in eliminating corrupt and unjust social evils from the face of the earth. The great instance of forgiveness practiced by Sr Rani Maria and her family members is a challenge to the whole world in which the manufacturing and trading of weapons grow against charity, and walls are built in the place of bridges. Madura Mission

VI. Capuchin Mission in Southern Part of Tamilnadu

Before venturing into the missionary activities of the Jesuits who again rekindled the faith that St. Thomas brought to India, we will see at this series how the Capuchins, the contemporary missionaries, evangelized the whole of Tamilnadu. Again we bring to our memory that the Capuchins opened their first mission in 1632 in Pondicherry and remained there for more than hundred and fifty years. Similarly more than one hundred and eight years they had been working in Madras Mylapore diocese.

When Rt. Rev. Peter Francis, the Bishop of Kumbakonam, asked the Capuchins to start a house in his diocese, Fr. Urban, the Commissary Provincial of India accepted this and they bought a land adjacent to the bank of Cauvery near Srirangam in 1942. In 1943 Amalashram was constructed at this site; thus a new mission started centering around Srirangam, southern Tamilnadu. Amalashram became the Seat of Commissory Provincialate and Theologate from 1943 to 1949. It functioned as a Latin School from 1955 to 1956. In 1957 the Seraphic School or the Assisi School was started for the Tamil candidates. In par with their focus on formation they also entered into pastoral ministry. They established churches at Thiruvalarcholai and constructed Schools at Pallivilai near Samayapuram. In 1994 Amalashram was erected into a new parish. They also started the Secular Franciscan Order (SFO) in order to nourish the spiritual lives of the lay people who would manifest the values of St. Francis to the world. Notable members are Servants of God, "Paradeshi Peter", "Joseph Thambi" etc. A new magazine 'Franciscan Oli' spreaded the values of St. Francis and built up the local church in Tamilnadu.

In Kanyakumari District, Asisi Ashram was started at Pambanvilai in 1979. In 1985 this house became the Novitiate for the Province. Anugraha Counselling programme was initially conducted here.

In 1949 the Capuchins opened their foundation at Kotagiri of OotyDoicese purchasing a hotel which later became the Theologate and Novitiate till 1984. In 1985 Philosophate came to Kotagiri. Capuchins also started a school for the tribal children and handed over to Sisters of St. Teresa. The brothers engaged themselves in pastoral ministry in the diocese of Ooty. St. Francis Home was started to educate the poor tribal children in the hill area.

Rt. Rev. Francis Xavier Savarimuthu, the Bishop of Coimbatore, in 1956 gave Fatima parish to the Capuchins to animate. Thus many parishes were erected by the hard work of the Capuchins and in Pattukottai alone the Capuchins were working for thirty one years. At Veerakurichy the Capuchins spreaded the devotion to St. Francis.

Rt. Rev. Thomas Fernando the then Bishop of Tuticorin invited Capuchins and handed over the newly created parish of Amali Nagar, Tiruchendur, a coastal parish in 1967. Fr. Eusebius constructed a huge church here in 1970. Paduvai Ashram was also founded by him at Amalinagar which was shifted later to Tuticorin in 1971. The friars built a shrine dedicated to St. Jude which attracts a lot of faithful. Millarpuram with many substations were entrusted to the Capuchins. St. Jude's church became a parish in 1992. The Capuchins also constructed a Retreat Center which was entrusted to the Diocese later.

In 1983 the Provincialate house, Gnanalaya was opened in Trichy. In 1995 Fatima parish was handed over to the Capuchins. The Capuchins were also animating the FST sisters at Fatima Nagar until 2005. In 2001 a legal assisting Unit named CLARES was opened at Amlashram, Trichy which was transferred later to Karumandapam. This center offers service of legal awareness, legal assistance, arbitration, negotiation reconciliation etc. to the ordinary poor people. Along cherished dream of the Capuchins came true by opening a Theologate, FRANCESCO, at Vengangudi near Samayapuram in 2008 by shifting the Theological College from Amalashram.

Arulaham was opened in Vikiramasingapuram of Palayamkottai diocese in 1987 for the aspirants to complete their higher secondary education. This was created into a new parish in 1994.

In 1991 the then Bishop of Sivagangai, Rt. Rev. Edward Francis offered land at OkkurPudur and invited the Capuchins to start their mission in particular to the Sri Lankan Tamils. The Friars started Francis Anbagam which hosted post novitiate programme until 2007. In 1996 the capuchins opened a mission at K.M. Kottai of Sivaganga Diocese. They also run two Poor students home at the campus. Udhayam is the social service center of capuchins in Tamilnadu established in 1996. In 2006 a Provincial Technical Education Center and Karunaikadal Friary was opened at a Tsunami hit area of Thenkuda of Sivaganga diocese. Udhayam Polytechnic College was started in 2007. In 2008 Udhayam De-addiction center was also started in the campus.

After a century the Capuchins once again opened their foundation in Thyagadurgam in the Archdiocese of Pondicherry in 2007 and erected st. Francis Ashram. This mission functions as a spiritual center for all the priests, religious and the lay people.

Arunodhaya at Vannampatti was established in 1996. In 1999 the parish was established and handed over to the Capuchins. St. Pio Home functions at the Priary for the poor children. Anugraha was founded in 1998 at Nochiodaipatti. It is a Capuchin center for on-going formation in spirituality, counselling and research. In 2005 NochiOdaipatti became a parish and was handed over to the Capuchins.

A friary Vidivelli was opened at Sundampatti by the invitation of Bp. Antony Irudayaraj, the bishop of Dharmapuri in 1998.

The then Archbishop of Madurai invited the Capuchins to start their ministry in the Archdiocese of Madurai in 1970. Fr. Mathiaas was sent to Kalladithidal and Usilampatti to start the mission and in the same year he came to Thirumangalam to start the mission. Nirmala Ashram was established in 1971. St. Francis English Medium School was started later by Bro. Nicholas. Balwadi schools were opened by the Capuchins in Sathankudi, Melakkottai, Nadukottai and Keezhaurappanur. The parish church was consecrated to Our Lady of Immaculate Conception in 1974. Social work centers were opened at T. Kallupatti and Nadukottai where poor women were taught skills and given job opportunities. The social work center at T. Kallupatti was later handed over to the Sisters of Immaculate Conception. Chapels were built in Sathankudi, T. Kallupatti and Odaipatti. A School was started at Sathankudi which was later handed over to Sisters of Immaculate Heart of Mary. The Friars also offer spiritual assistance to Sri Lankan Tamils at Uchapatti camp. Thirumangalam became a pairsh in 1986 with Fr. Benjamine as the first parish priest. In 2004 a new Friary was built in 2004. In 2008 Sacred Heart Primary School at Kallikudi was purchased by the Friary. From 2009 a social service project called RTU, established by a De le Salle Brother Kimpton at G. Kallupatti, was entrusted to the administration of the Capuchins. (to be continued)
